PRICE THREE CENTS

Old Belmont Race Track Passes

Workmen Busy Demolishing Buildings

"Taps" were sounded over the old Belmont Driving Club on Meeting House lane last Saturday evening when Auctioneer Fred Shreve finished selling the furnishings, pictures, etc., of the clubhouse. A large crowd of horsemen and bargain hunters were on hand, as the sale also included household goods, stable equipment and three well-bred colts that were the property of Lessee C. W. Merkle. A. B. Cox, Joshua Evans, Al Saunders, C. O. Herbert, F. Seal, H. B. Wilgus, J. Toy, H. Kelly, W. Merkle, S. Lewis, H. B. Kelly, F. Fleming, J. R. K. Scott, J. White, W. W. Cochran, G. Bates, F. Jackson, R. Dedy, J. B. Price, J. P. Kirk, J. Kleckner, J. L. Serrill and others who have been interested in affairs of the organization secured souvenirs.

John R. K. Scott purchased all of the stables and also the clubhouse and grandstand. The judges' stand was secured by the Doylestown Fair officials. Work on demolishing the old sheds has already started, and in a short time streets will be cut and lots planned through the track over which many famous horses have raced. Trainers who have been in business for many years stood around, hardly believing it possible that the end had come.

After Poisoners.

Dog owners in the borough are on the lookout for poisoners who have taken their toll during the past few years.

The latest victim of the dog poisoners is Mrs. J. W. Sterner, of Woodside avenue, whose airdale died this week from the effects of ground glass.

This case is one of many in that section. Other sufferers in the past have been Mrs. Milton F. Alexander, who later moved, and Dr. Frank E. Zindell, of Elmwood avenue. There have also been many other cases reported throughout the borough.

The owners of the dogs claim that the animals could only be poisoned by meat or other food thrown into the yard. They fear that a young child may some day be the victim of ground glass or strychnine destined for a dog.

Appeals have been made to the borough authorities to help in the search for the guilty persons, and prosecution is promised if they are found.

Soloist Chosen.

Mrs. Edith Hale, soprano, has been selected as the soloist for the coming concert of the Main Line Orchestra, to be held in the Ardmore Theatre, Ardmore, on Sunday afternoon, November 16.

Mrs. Hale is a resident of Rosemont. She has had wide musical experience, having been a pupil of Mrs. Collender, of New York, and later at important concert engagements throughout the East. She is now singing in the Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr.

For the Main Line Orchestra concert Mrs. Hale has chosen an interesting group of songs by Franz Strauss, Currin and Novella. She will be accompanied by Rosita Samuel French, a member of the faculty of the Main Line School of Music, Ardmore.

Adolph Vogel, conductor of the Main Line Orchestra, is planning extra rehearsals prior to the concert so that this, the most difficult program which the orchestra has yet presented to the public, may also be the best.

The Drought in Narberth.

The Co-operative Observer informs us that the rainfall for October at Narberth amounted to 17/100 of an inch. This is the smallest amount since records were started. Rain fell on the 8th to the 15/100 of an inch, a trace on the 16th which was not enough to measure, and 2/100 of an inch on the 28th.

Previous to this the next month that held the record was that of November, 1922, when 54/100 of an inch was recorded.

Narberth Gives Coolidge Big Majority In Record Vote

Building Loan Sunk 950-366. Road Issue Passes By 1014-355

Narberth polled the greatest vote in the history of the borough on Tuesday and also ran up the biggest Republican landslide on record. La Follette polled but a few scattered votes of the 1600-odd ballots cast.

The residents expressed themselves in decisive fashion in the matter of the two loans. The community centre loan of $100,000 was sunk to the tune of 366 to 950, while the $75,000 street-paving loan passed with flying colors, 1014 to 355.

In District No. 1, Northeast Narberth, the vote on the first was 107 to 320, and on the second, 303 to 88.

In District No. 2, Northwest Narberth, the building loan tallied 139 to 300 and the street loan 397 to 130.

In the Third District, South Side, the score was, building loan, 120 to 270, and street loan, 254 to 137.

The vote on the constitutional convention and the offices will be found in another column. It will be noted that North Ardmore and Cynwyd are the only districts beside Narberth which gave a majority to the project; in fact they were the only ones in the entire county.

The heavy vote was due in large part to the efforts of the League of Women Voters in their "Get Out the Vote" campaign. The results of this publicity were shown throughout the county, but particularly in Narberth, the home of the chairman of the campaign, Mrs. C. P. Fowler.

Another contributing factor was the splitting up of the borough into election districts. This speeded up the voting greatly and permitted the election officials to get a little sleep Tuesday night—an unusual thing in Narberth. Very little confusion was noted because of the new arrangement, although many voters who reported to Elm Hall had to be sent to their new polling places.

This is the first election, incidentally, at which Narberth relinquished her honor of being the largest single district in the State. It used to be in a sense a distinction, but a dubious honor. The wisdom of the split was clearly shown.

The large turn-out and the splendid Republican majority was highly pleasing to the committee. Charles V. Noel, chairman of the Republican Committee said when the results were announced: "The loyal work of Narberth's Republicans was most pleasing to the party workers as was the big turn-out. The committee wishes to express its thanks to the voters for contributing to Narberth's share in the victory, particularly to the women, whose efforts brought such big results."

The Narberth Street Improvement Association, the non-partisan organization which conducted the campaign for the street bond issue, has requested publication of the following:

"On behalf of all of the people on all of the unpaved streets, we wish to extend to the people on all the paved streets our heartiest thanks and appreciation for the neighborly and generous support which they gave us and without which we would have failed." It confirms and justifies our original belief that if the street issue could be fairly presented to all of the people the spirit of fair play would give us the victory.

"The street bond issue as it now stands, endorsed by every precinct in the borough, is no longer a sectional or minority affair. It is a mandate of the majority, and we are looking forward to the prompt and fair execution of the job which the people have commanded."

"The Narberth Street Improvement Association will not disband."

In Montgomery County the poll of votes was the biggest in the history of the county and the plurality of the Republican candidates over their opponents broke all records, being over 30,000.

The number of districts of the 150 voting precincts that were carried by the Democrats is negligible. The Third ward of Bridgeport, for instance, which was never known to give anything but a Democratic majority, rolled up a substantial plurality for Coolidge.

The threatened support of La Follette did not materialize. Although there were thousands of stay-at-home Democratic voters Davis leads the Socialist-Labor parties by a wide margin in the county.

The plurality of Coolidge over Davis averages more than 200 to a district. Since there are 156 districts the plurality in the county is more than 30,000. This is not surprising. In fact the figures approximate very closely those claimed by the Republican managers.

Of the possible 110,000 votes in the county the returns show an approximate poll of 60 per cent. This is at least 10 per cent. better than four years ago.

The part women played in the sweeping victory in Montgomery county in behalf of the Republican ticket is recognized. They trooped to the polls by hundreds due to their own initiative plus the excellent work of the women workers.

Bryn Mawr Seniors Elect.

Miss Caroline Remak, daughter of Gustavus Remak, an attorney of Prospect street and Evergreen avenue, Chestnut Hill, was elected president of the senior class of Bryn Mawr College last Thursday. With the election Miss Remak automatically becomes the college's next May queen.

Membership Drive.

The membership drive now being conducted by the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce has netted fifteen members within the last few days, according to a statement issued by Mr. A. L. Reinhold, secretary of the organization. The total membership now is up to 196, Mr. Reinhold said, and it is expected that 250 members will be enrolled by Christmas.

Banquet.

Members of the American Legion are urged not to forget the banquet to be held in Elm Hall next Tuesday, Armistice Day.

A splendid program has been arranged. A good menu is promised, famous speakers, and a good time. The Legion also has urged every resident to remember to display the Flag next Tuesday. Let no home in Narberth lack the emblem on this national day of patriotism.

NEW BUILDING

One of Most Attractive Structures on Main Line.

The first of the number of startling changes in the aspect of the business section of Narberth was completed this week when the Narberth Coal and Building Material Company began occupancy of their new office building at Narberth and Haverford avenues.

Several new office buildings are under construction or being planned in the near future. Narberth may feel pride in the fact that the buildings are structurally and architecturally to be the best of their kind.

This has certainly been proven in the new building of the coal company. A coal yard in the rough is never a very pleasing sight to the eye, hence it has been the policy of the company to take their yard out of the rough to as great an extent as possible. They began this gradually but surely when they built the brick wall along the boundary of their yard on Narberth avenue.

They have continued this policy in the careful attention to appearances which they have given their new offices. A two-story brick building with stucco facing, leaded casement glass windows, spangled by artistic iron balconies on the second floor and two large plate glass display windows on the first floor, are the features which make the distinctive outward appearance of the building.

The ground floor span consists of general offices, a separate scale room and a conference room.

In the general offices, which are completely and attractively furnished both for the convenience of the different departments and the comfort of the customers who call through the day, a library is being developed consisting of books on advertising and selling, other business subjects and many pamphlets and books on home-building, available for customers' reference.

The second floor has been divided into two offices which will be rented.

Juniors Meet.

The Junior Community Club held their regular meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, November 4.

An amendment to the constitution was made pertaining to Article 7, Dues. This changes the date for the final payment of dues from February 1 to December 31. This amendment will not go into effect until next year.

The report on the Red Cross drive was not as encouraging as former years, but the Juniors wish to thank the citizens for their subscriptions.

The next event on the Junior program, which is now under discussion, is the annual Christmas dance. Full particulars will come out later. Those who have attended these dances in former years know what a good time is assured and will get tickets early. If you have not indulged in one of these dances before try it this year.

"A Rose O' Plymouth Town."

Particular interest centres in the Pilgrims as we approach the Thanksgiving season, so it is very appropriate that at this time the Women's Community Club will present the play "A Rose O' Plymouth Town."

The flash of rapiers and the clatter of muskets suggest the stout hearts of the men who braved those black winters 300 years ago. With knitting needles and spinning wheels the sweet matron and demure are occupied. Come and see the vivid portrayal of those early settlers at Elm Hall, at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening, November 18. Tickets are 50 cents.

First Indian Vote Was Cast Here

Chief Strong Wolf Is A Good Republican

An unique honor came to Narberth on Tuesday. The borough received the first ballot ever cast by an American Indian.

One hundred and forty-eight years after the Declaration of Independence proclaimed the political equality and universal fraternity of mankind, the first American Indian, with full citizenship rights, cast his first vote in a Presidential election.

As a result of the law signed on June 3 last by President Coolidge, granting full citizenship to Indians, Chief Strong Wolf, of the Ojibway tribe, appeared before the election board in Narberth, at Elm Hall, and cast ballot No. 213 for the man whose signature made his people free.

Although brought up in the backwoods, on the Menominee Reservation of Wisconsin, near the Canadian border, Chief Strong Wolf is an educated man and an orator of note. At the present time he is studying anthropology at the University of Pennsylvania. He was the first to volunteer of the 1,313 Indians who served in the American armies in the World War.

"Because President Coolidge had the courage of his convictions and approved the law which gave my people citizenship, I voted for him," he said. "There are some 300,000 Indians in the United States, and I am sure that their entire vote will be found to have been cast for him."

To make more striking the historical significance of the event, the chief went to the polls in his picturesque tribal costume, with a great bonnet of eagle feathers and beaded buckskin shirt and moccasins. He wore blue leggings, with wide flaps, and carried his ceremonial pipe.

Chief Strong Wolf was born 36 years ago. As a boy he hunted moose, deer and caribou in the woods and trapped for a living. At the outbreak of the war, in 1911, he came down from Great Slave Lake with two companions, High Charley Two-way and George Long Boy, and after various vicissitudes reached Baltimore and shipped aboard a cattle boat as foreman.

Arriving in France he was so fired with enthusiasm for the Allies' cause that he enlisted in the crack Second Battalion of Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry. Later he was transferred to the Mohawk Indian Battalion of the A. E. F. For four and one-half years he remained on the other side and almost all that time was passed at the front. Since his return he has been studying at the University and lecturing upon Indian subjects.

Narberth Boy Wins Essay Prize

L. M. Senior With An Essay On Citizenship

Raymond Rudruff, of Narberth, a senior in Lower Merion High School, has been awarded the prize of a $10 goldpiece which was offered by the Lower Merion Township League of Women Voters for the best essay, "What Constitutes Good Citizenship," written by the High School pupils. The judges of the award were Dr. Marian Parris Smith, professor of economics at Bryn Mawr College, the Rev. Andrew W. Mutch, of Bryn Mawr, and Mr. William L. Austin, president of the school board of Lower Merion township. The judges commented favorably upon the uniform excellence of all the essays, and they selected for honorable mention: Catherine Timlin, Dorothy Levan, Sara Huntington, Laura Henderson, Francis Sunderland and Arline Keylor.

This contest was prompted by the desire to arouse thoughts of patriotic citizenship among our citizens of the near future, and the League of Women Voters is well satisfied with the result, the essays having been characterized as "a very creditable collection, promising well for the future of our country."

The prize of $15 which was offered by the Montgomery County League for the best essay on the same subject, open to all the High Schools in the county, was given to John Worman, of Fort Washington, a senior in the Abington High School, Abington township. Only the winning essay in each local contest was allowed consideration, and as a result, 18 essays were received at the league headquarters at Norristown. The judges of this award were Miss Elizabeth Johnson, head of the Baldwin School at Bryn Mawr; the Rev. Jesse R. Corum, of the First Presbyterian Church, Norristown, and Mrs. J. Spencer Brock, of Rydal.

The winner of this award was invited to read his essay before Montgomery League of Women Voters at its annual meeting in October, but as he is a member of the Abington debating team which was scheduled to meet at Bryn Mawr on the same day, he could not arrange to attend the meeting at Norristown.

TENNIS BRIDGE

To Be Given by the Ladies Next Friday.

An afternoon bridge will be held by the ladies of the Narberth Tennis Club at the home of Mrs. Carl B. Metzger, 15 Chestnut avenue, on Friday afternoon, November 14, at 2.30. This will be the start for the winter, and it is hoped that the ladies of Narberth will show their interest by attending and enjoy an afternoon of bridge.

A fee of 50 cents is charged each bridge player and the proceeds put in the treasury of the Ladies' Auxiliary to help the Narberth Tennis Club furnish its club house.

The activities of the Narberth Tennis Club are very evident during the summer as the courts on Haverford avenue are played upon every afternoon when the weather is favorable. During the winter months when it is impossible to play tennis the club has dances and bridge parties which hold the interest of its members and their friends, and the Narberthites who are not members are cordially invited to attend both the dances and the card parties and if they like the sample to put in their applications for membership in the tennis club.

Phone Mrs. Metzger at Narberth 693 in order that a place may be reserved for you at the bridge on the 14th.

Plan for Christmas Seal Sale.

The seventeenth annual Christmas Seal sale to help the fight against tuberculosis in Pennsylvania will be held the latter part of November and December and the Montgomery County Tuberculosis Society will conduct the sale in all districts of the county. It is hoped to raise between $15,000 and $20,000 in the county to carry on the work.

IT IS THE DAWN

The favorable action of the voters on the street bond issue moves forward toward a satisfactory solution
a matter which has troubled the tranquility of the borough for many years. The people have provided the funds necessary for a much-needed permanent improvement and have removed the financial tethers which have prevented Council from pushing the project. There is no reason to believe that Council will not work out the details in the spirit of generosity and fairness which the vote of the people indicated.

It will, however, be a problem requiring the serious thought and effort of our governing body.
Council has committed itself by unanimous vote to a policy with regard to the disposition of the moneys made available. But the exact definition of the borough's share remains to be made.

The resolution of Council passed last month defines a course but leaves the details to the future. That future is here. The people on the unpaved streets will push the project to its conclusion.

The borough's insistence on petition as the basis of each new street is wise, but the petitions must need be different from those in the past. It was formerly necessary that the petitioners bind themselves to pay the entire cost. It is now possible for the borough to share in the expense in addition to providing the working capital from the $75-000 fund.

For the information of the voters
and to clear the track for the paving
it seems the better course for Council to decide and state at once the plan they will pursue—what proportion of the cost they feel the borough should bear.

Our street-paving program has been held up for years by one thing or another. There seems to be no further excuse for delay. The people have voted 3 to 1 for street paving which is urgently needed.

The Street Improvement Association, as shown in their diatribe against Council in these columns last week, have blood in their eye. Certainly it seems the best course for the borough to push the project with due fairness for all concerned, and give the lie to cries of disinterest and discrimination.

Says Knocking Article Unfair.

To the Editor of Our Town:

The article in your last issue
signed by the Narberth Street Improvement Association, Robert F.
Wood, secretary, attacking the Borough Council is an example of the brand of misinformation and innuendo which some people delight in disseminating concerning public officials.

Mr. Wood would make it appear that the Council is discouraging the improvement of unpaved streets,
which is manifestly absurd.

He neglected to state that the only reason that Forest avenue, on which he lives, is not paved its whole length is that some of the abutting property owners would not join with W. D. Smedley in paving the street.

The question at issue is not that street improvement cannot be obtained but that the property owner is not willing to contribute to the expense.

The policy of the Council for several years has been to require that original paving be laid at the expense of the property owner, after which the street is maintained by the borough. It seems to me that this is a low price to pay for perpetual care.

STATE CONVENTION

League of Women Voters Announce Program.

The following program of the annual convention of the State League of Women Voters will be of interest to local members:

The credentials committee will sit from 2 P. M. to 5 P. M. at the State headquarters, 1725 Spruce street, Tuesday, November 11.

Wednesday, noon luncheon to league officers by the State president, Mrs. John O. Miller, at the State house.

Formal opening Wednesday night in the clover room, Bellevue-Stratford, to which men and women are invited.

Thursday, at 9.30 A. M., in the clover room of the Bellevue-Stratford, will be held the annual business meeting, embracing the various reports, election of officers, presentation of suggested program from 1924-25 and lessons from the caravan. Thursday afternoon a discussion of the legislative program for the coming year, and Thursday evening, at 6.30 o'clock, the banquet
at the Bellevue-Stratford.

Owing to the convening of the State convention on above dates
it was deemed best to omit the regular meeting of the Narberth league on Monday, November 10, in the hope that the members would endeavor to attend some of the State sessions. It is time well spent and much inspiration and more complete understanding of the league and its functions will be the result.

TAKE COD LIVER OIL NOW!

A course of Cod Liver Oil now will go a long ways towards fortifying any system against the ravages of winter, and particularly where weak lungs exist. Pure Cod Liver Oil, and as long as it is pure it is good. It may not be so wonderfully fine tasting you know, but it is, indeed, a wonderful medicine.
In a tastier form is the emulsion—full 50% Cod Liver Oil, but combined with aromatics. A step further and there is the Cod Liver Oil extract or cordial, a very tasty preparation based on the active principle of Cod Liver Oil without the oil or grease.
Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, too, are good for simple colds.
Of course, Cod Liver Oil, or any other drug product is best when it is pure, and it is pure when it is here.

REGULARITY OF INCOME

should be considered as well as safety and yield. ¶An investment of less than $6000 can be arranged to return you $25 to $40 each month without ever touching one dollar of the principal. ¶$25,000 so invested would pay over $40 per week.

The distinct advantage of such an investment is that the entire principal, being in high-grade bonds, can be converted back into cash at any time, or left in this form of investment forever. ¶Also these bonds could be used as collateral for a loan from any bank.

High-grade bonds present the safest and best paying form of investing the savings of the entire civilized world. They make possible the operation and development of city, State and foreign governments,
railroads, electric light and power, gas, telephones;
in fact all the modern industries. ¶Through our connections we are constantly in touch with affairs and are adequately equipped to render efficient service to the small investor as well as to banks and corporations.

If you are not yet a bond buyer we would be glad to explain this method of saving. ¶If you now own bonds send in list of your holdings for analysis of present value. ¶There is no charge for this service.

OLD-FASHIONED SERENADE

Tendered Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

An old-fashioned serenade was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Gambrell Davis on Thursday evening, October 30, at 8:30, at the First Unitarian Church, Twenty-second and Chestnut streets. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frederic Mifflin, of the Unitarian Church, assisted by Rev. Frank M. Gray, former pastor of the Methodist Church at Narberth.

The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in New York. They will motor to their newly furnished bungalow, a gift from the father of the groom and will be at home after November 15 at Hesperides, Lake Wales, Florida.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Samuel S. Dienes, of Philadelphia, as maid of honor. Miss Marian Fellows, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Miss Katherine Gwilliam, of Bloomfield, N. J., as flower girl.

The best man was Mr. John F. Hippel, a graduate of University of Pennsylvania and now a student at the Law School. The ushers were Messrs. Walter B. Martin, of Wilmington, Del., uncle of the groom; Arthur Scottan, of Wilmington; Arch Morrison, of Wayne, now studying at the Jefferson Medical College, formerly a University of Pennsylvania student; J. Baird Caldwell and C. Roy Smith, of Narberth and John Endicott, a fraternity brother of the groom, also a Penn graduate.

About 400 friends and relatives attended the reception which was held in the parlors of the church immediately following the ceremony.

The bride, who was Miss Margaret Dorothy Fellows, of Philadelphia, was a pupil at Miss Sayward's School at Overbrook, and the groom was a junior at the University of Pennsylvania. He is also a graduate of the Narberth High School and of Episcopal Academy.

Home Again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Collum Nash and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Landis Cooke have just returned from their double honeymoon.

The bridal couples left Philadelphia immediately after their wedding reception at Green Hill Farms, on Wednesday, October 15. They motored to Denver, Col., and Colorado Springs and returned, covering 4500 miles.

While in Colorado Springs they visited Miss Mary Nolan, of Narberth, who is spending the winter there. The two couples drove to the summit of Pike's Peak, as well as over the Corley Highway to Cripple Creek, up Lookout Mountain in Denver and through the North and South Cheyenne Canyons. They report good roads practically all the way and perfect weather.

They did not encounter any rain during their three weeks' trip, but did run into a snow storm while crossing the mountains. The brides and grooms are all busy now getting settled in their new homes—Mr. and Mrs. Cook will live in Anthwyn lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Nash in the Anita Apartments, Overbrook.

ONCE MORE

Children's Book Week.

Beginning next week, Monday, the Narberth Community Library will observe with all the other libraries of the country, those much larger and if there are such, those smaller, the movement to encourage a love of books among girls and boys. This movement is known as Children's Book Week and was originated in 1919 by the American Library Association, the Boy Scouts of America and the Booksellers' Association working together. This is only the sixth observance of the campaign, but already its influence is strongly felt in raising the standard of children's reading and impressing upon adults the influence of good literature on the moral as well as the mental development of the children. Fortunately for our purpose, some of the best writers are devoting their talent in the interest of children while at the same time many of our artists are employing their skill in illustrating books both old and new.

This is the third observance of the week by the Narberth Library and is an event anticipated by every one interested in the children's work. For in its preparation all the money that can properly be diverted that way is invested in new books for the children. These books are displayed all the week on the magazine table that the children themselves and also the adults may become thoroughly acquainted with the entire group. The books will go into circulation the week following.

While the books are intended primarily for the children, it is to be hoped that parents and teachers and those in any way concerned with children will look over those which have been bought for this occasion. The prices are in the books and any one may find there good suggestions for Christmas gifts.

The following list is only suggestive of the display as, in addition to these, there have been purchased another one of the Dr. Doolittle books—this time his circus, Nordhoff's "Pearl Lagoon," and Meader's "Down by the Big River."

Jane Abbot, "Laughing Last," Dolores Bacon, "Pictures Every Child Should Know," Helen Ward Banks, "The House of the Lions," Ralph H. Barbour, "Spaniard's Cave," Abbie F. Brown, "The Boyhood of Edward MacDowell," James F. Cooper, "The Spy," Anne B. Greene, "Grey-light," G. Inness Hartley, "The Lost Flamigos," Clarence Hawkes, "A Gentleman from France," Henry Chase Hill, "The Wonder Book of Knowledge," William Hornaday, "Tales from Nature's Wonderlands," Helen Hunt Jackson, "Nelly's Silver Mine," E. B. Knipe, "A Mayflower Maid," A. A. and E. B. Knipe, "Powder-Patches and Patty," Charles H. Lerrigo, "The Boy Scouts of Round Table Patrol," T. Morris Longstreth, "The Silent Five," Lucy F. Perkins, "The Filipino Twins," "The Swiss," "The Belgian Twins," "The Puritan Twins," "The Dutch Twins," Theodore G. Roberts, "The Stranger from Up-Along," Francis Rolt-Wheeler, "The Boy's Book of the World War," Samuel Scoville, "More Wild Folk," Augusta H. Seaman, "The Slipper Point Mystery," Elsie Singmaster, "A Boy at Gettysburg," Grace Stockwell, "The Mysterious Little Girl," George F. Tucker, "The Boy Whaleman," Jules Verne, "The Lighthouse at the End of the World."
